There's a ghost on every corner of this town
They're reminding me of how things used to be
They're offering an easier way out
Well if it's easier, let's make it easier
You can always save the best for last

I was never meant to make it past twenty-two
Look at me now, who knew
I found it was much easier back then
Well if it's easier, let's make it easier
You can always save the best for last

Well, the time it takes
And the rules we break
Gets harder to take it all back
Well, the time it takes
And the rules we break
Gets harder to take it all back, to take it all back.

There's a ghost on every corner of this town.
They're reminding me of how things used to be.
They're offering an easier way out,
Well if it's easier, let's make it easier.
You can always save the best for life.

Well, the time it takes
And the rules we break
Gets harder to take it all back
Well, the time we take
And the rules we break
Gets harder to take it all back, to take it all back

[brief musical interlude]

You can always save the best for last
You can always save the best for last

Well the time it takes,
And the rules we break
Gets harder to take it all back
(x2)

Get's harder to take it all back
To take it all back
