"All Terrain Vehicle"

Practise your best fake smile and shrug off all of your broken dreams

Watch the sun rise slow and you look beyond all you know

I been looking out my window just trying to find something to re-ignite this engine
I been crawling through this hardship like an all-terrain vehicle or a moth to a lantern
And I can't lie to myself any more, we're never gonna make it
We're never gonna make it

Practise a firm handshake and learn to make cheap small-talk Crush an ego small but still stand tall through it all

I been looking out my window just trying to find
something to re-ignite this engine
I been crawling through this hardship like an all-terrain
vehicle or a moth to a lantern
And I can't lie to myself any more, we're never gonna
make it
We're never gonna make it
We're never gonna make it
We're never gonna make it

I've been looking out my window just trying to find something to re-ignite this engine
I been crawling through this hardship like an all-terrain
vehicle or a moth to a lantern
We're never gonna make it (Looking out my window) We're never gonna make it (Just trying to find something to re-ignite this engine) Never gonna make it (Crawling through this hardship like) We're never gonna make it (An all-terrain vehicle or a moth to a lantern)
I won't lie to myself any more
