

Inme

"Rain Drops On Stones"

Visit "Rain Drops On Stones" on MotoLyrics.com

I've been meaning to tell you for quite some time,
(What is it you wanted to tell me?)
Things may get a little bit different
(I'm not afraid of change)
And it's the feeling we all wish we could keep inside
(Little does she know all about)
A green raindrop inside of a stimulant
(Green raindrops inside these stones)

It can't work, it won't work, the works too much work
& it can't hurt to be inverted,
It'd be a welcomed change from the last few years,
The instinct to help them, to be free, so free
And hold them as my own,
I wish I could show you
Just how welcome I feel inside this shadow.

And I've been meaning to tell you,
For quite some time now, I feel a part of you,
And I know it's a little late to tell you,
Little raindrops on you stones,
Feel the wind and the rain,
I've lost it to find it all again

So close yet so far, my star will fall,
Its downfall, it's so small,
Up on the shore in the presence of the foolish, silence.
Sweet springs and rivers, you've gotta keep
Your chin up at all times, it slows down.
And we all look at what really matters,
What really matters now.

I want to help you but first I must save myself,
As the raindrops hit the stones we all illuminate

Visit Inme page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.