To my man G.O.V., I remember how you used to be You were the illest man alive now I'm reading your eulogy
Eyes so serious, you told me hold my head Pursue this rap shit and go forward never backwards While you gripped Tec's tight, and ran niggaz out of town
I ripped up mics, showin wack niggaz how to sound Still your essence, was callin
By two gunshots, at close range, your frame had fallen Now like a angel you've risen And you will stay in my heart, and yo I wish you were still livin Word... this is in memory of

To my man Brian B, I remember how you used to be You were the flyest in the club with three bitches doin rub-a-dub

You was the pimp of all panderers GQ, Johnny Presley, fuckin up the elegances
So many hookers on your schedule Slammin Cadillac doors and mackin whores on the regular
You used to boost, the slickest of suits Climbin through the back windows on the bus, you was ill Dukes Until that chick you vicked, for the Cutlass started snillz-niffin ki-daine, and went to cut cha That freak shanked you six times in your sleep
I wish you was here, cause your philosophy was mad deep Yeah... this is in memory of

To all my brothers doin time, whether or not you did the crime
You know the system is devised to keep you deaf dumb and blind
Like Scarface said, them cats are smart
In order for things to change we must all play a part It's easy for us to blame society But now it's way too late, and we must take responsibility
To all my brothers in the streets
I know you feel you gotta hustle cause your peeps gotta eat Makin moves right and exact; don't wanna see you layin flat
Don't wanna see ya catch a bullet black
If we don't build we'll be destroyed That's the challenge we face in this race of poor and unemployed
Freud, a philosopher, but I'm a realist
So philosophize this, without love we won't exist To those who passed out there, in the deserts and the jungles with pain on their shoulders, and heavy bundles I pray each one will, ascend to new heights and new enlightenment

And this is why I'm writin it Yeah... this is in memory of

* I'm not sure about all of these names *
