Our guns to deter us from peace
Your life that is full of grief
Thinking about the recently deceased
Our hate is the only real belief

Money and power, freedom and religion
We all resort to the same thing
Death and starvation, race and division
This is what the rage brings

We kill! Let them die against their willÂ...
We kill! They suffer against their willÂ...

Dropping bombs on random people
We go to church and praise the steeple
Who knew the human race could be so lethal
All that we had has turned into evil
Money and power, freedom and religion
We all resort to the same thing
Death and starvation, race and division
This is what the rage brings

We kill! Let them die against their willÂ...
We kill! They suffer against their willÂ...

Our guns to deter us from peace
Your life that is full of grief
Thinking about the recently deceased
Our hate is the only real belief

We kill! Kill! Kill!
Watch them die against their will!
We kill! Kill! Kill!
We all die against our will!
