And it's open for distraction
You found all the words you need
Well I found nothing
I just grumble 'cause I don't know what I feel

The moral to the story goes never leave your heart
Never leave your heart alone

Run for shelter
An umbrella fights the rain but not the wind
And I'd be silly to start preaching 'cause I don't know which point to make

The moral to the story goes
Never leave your heart in a box locked up with cold
Cold ice
Never leave your heart
Never leave your heart alone

Am I frozen
But it's summer
Is that rain or is it me
Yes I'm melting
Please be happy
One day soon we just might swim

The moral to the story goes
Never leave your heart in a box locked up with cold
Cold ice
Never leave your heart
Never leave your heart
Never leave your heart alone
Yeah
