The pushing shoving's got me tired
And I don't want it
The hopeful feelings I desired
Have all gone away
Erase all your memories
Of what we used to be
They don't mean anything

And now I'm wondering
What am I waiting for?
Why am I holding on?
I can't hide it anymore

Apart of me it was telling me to leave, then I fell into the best of you that's slowly killing me
It is slowly killing me
Never thought it'd have to end like this Breathing in the ash of a burning ship
And I don't need another sign
This is where I draw the line

Your constant questions leave me tired
And I don't need them
The hopeful feelings I admired
It all fades away
