I wish that I could see your face, cuz it's the only thing that'll make me smile. I wish that you werent so far away, cause I still need you. Every night that I am with you, I wake the next day, wishing that you were still here. A hundred times I tried to call, you don't bother to answer....it's clear that we are through. But i still need you.

I may be out of line, but it's all i've got left. Please won't you take me back, back to the way things were. Cause I still, need you. I wish that you were here tonite, and I still, miss you. I still need you.

I spend my nights alone with out you, all I do is think about you. A hundred times and you still say no. I still need you. This may not be the right time, to tell you all my regrets. But I tried to go on without you, but I couldn't and i'm still without you. Cause I still, need you. I wish that you were here tonite, and I still, miss you. I still need you.
