All the words that you say, you know they light up my day, and leave me with hope for a happy ending. Well everything just, stops. A few glances exchanged around the room. But we all know, we're all here. Your daily routine of taking my breath never ceases to impress me.

I am getting to know you. You are getting to know me. Will I ever be, truly happy. Your eyes and mine, meet. Surprising cause I've always been faceless to you. We both know we're lonely. If this is meant to be then I can't mess things up. Your eyes continue to impress me.

I am getting to know you. You are getting to know me. But will I ever be, will we ever be, is this meant to be, will I ever be....truly happy.
