"For You"

You say you're looking for a friend like me
So tired of being turned away
Left bridges burning in your history
The jagged edge of yesterday

You pray with answers hoping questions will appear
Trusting the sky to point the way
Were all lost, undone
And desperately in need of grace
I know that Jesus is the way
For you as much as me

You say you need to find the kind of love that I speak
Someday you'll see that
Heaven waits for you as much as me.

How ironic that youve fancied me
A greater soul less despised
How amazing the equality
In how heaven sees you and I
So amazing the equality the likes of you and I.
