"Last Experience"

There's a time and a place for this
But today isn't a good day to rush
You came to me with a mind full of suffering
I didn't understand your dilemma
It's hard to pass every waking moment
Without a chance to say
This whole clean system is out of order
I never act when it is okay

It will be alright
Today we just might
Together we'll strive
For the best memories
Take all the chances you've got
But this time you forgot
To reconsider your life
It was the last experience

You take all the chances you could and why
I'm sure you didn't mean to expire
And how come you didn't give me a chance
A chance to say all of my goodbyes
And now you're gone and I must move on
With life and live it all at your stake
It breaks me down and I can't go around
It's just way too hard for me to take

Here's what I lack
And now that I look back
All those great times we had
They were the last memories
I will take no more
For my heart is too sore
I will end this all
It was my last experience
It was my last experience
