Take me back to now, I want to see what`s here
I want to see where You are moving
Tired of where I`ve been, the same is ail I do
Complacency all consuming

So empty, so hollow, so over what I thought I knew
But I see I`m, I`m falling for what is You
You took me back to then, and there I saw I needed
And I couldn`t help but break
Now as I stand again, a beggar with the truth
Getting past this faded heartache

You took me back to then, and there I saw I needed
