You say it is
I say it's not
What we had back then
Is all forgotten

You don't even try
It makes me wonder why
Do you even care
What we had we can no longer share

Why can't you be like me
Then maybe you would see
All the emotions filled inside
That I try to hide

There's nothing there
That makes me wonder
If there ever was

You say it is not you
But if you'd listened
You might have changed your point of view

Why can't you be like me
Then maybe you would see
All the emotions filled inside
That I am forced to hide

Open your eyes
And try to realize
What is there
We can never share
