Here I find myself aligned
Perfectly straight and plain
Never needed any help
At least I know that I am sane

Yielding thoughts of love and hate
Creating more distortion
This is how it carries on
Inscrutable fixations

Drapes of steel slide down the walls
Inscribing my thoughts retained
Meltdowns rushing through my soul
Never ending source of pain

Striking shadows leak their voice
Words scream out and stab my heart
I never thought that you'd return
Safe calm and open arms
Safe calm and open arms

And that's when you decided to run
Sprinting away from my life
I didn't realize you were betrayed
Please return and come to stay
Please return and come to stay
