"Say The Word"

I am on a roll
And I've taken a toll... this time
My mind is such a blur
I just don't understand her... anymore
How come I'm not what you need
It's strangling my mind I could scream

And now you're all alone
It chills you to the bone... failure
My life is so much better
Now that it's all over... and done
What was your name I forgot
It was important now it's not

I'm the only one who ever cared
I'm the only one who was ever there
I've moved on to a better place
Better lives better hearts better souls better faces
So say the word
Just say the word
