

Insidious Frustration "The Crimson Snow"

Visit "The Crimson Snow" on MotoLyrics.com

You never let me to be
It is always hard to see
I search for truth in the lies
It will come as a surprise
But no-one here seems to care
For all the things that I dare
I walk in the crimson snow
Where I'm going no-one knows
I can't see as usual
The path ahead to unfold
Move along and hope one day
I'll get there and there I'll stay
I might be weak but could get strong
Just for now I'll trudge along
But no-one seems to really care
Whether or not I will make my way there

As I venture in this day
It will never go away
It's just too hard to comprehend
Things I've done -- a deadly sin
I hope to sever these lies
It just don't seem to compromise

Visit Insidious Frustration page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.