"Oh Lord let me go"

Tender age, just seventeen, everyone would say you were too keen;
too bad, end of a love affair;
no one accuses you you didn't care.
She was the girl of your dreams
until it all fell apart at the seams

Oh Lord let me go x4

Like the lamb to the slaughter, loving a rich man's daughter.
All the sippers seem mighty fine, it's for the girl you left behind

Oh Lord let me go x4

They called you an introvert dressed in a rope undershirt Love for the girl in the gutter;
love is gone; a 20th century martyr
And for the girl you get two pounds to waste the doll under a round

Oh Lord let me go x8

Let me go

Oh Lord please let me go

Let me go

Oh, God let me go
