looking around on these streets there's nothing left to do penance through your charities now it's turned on you demons looking in on me slipping through the cracks watching, starving, waiting timing their attack beyond the flesh that imprisons beyond the death you've invisioned beyond the fear you'll embrace giving your life a foul taste system's overloading fear envelopes me cry out for redemption blind, forgotten - seen all the while fighting trying to get on top once the focus changes

all your senses... stop.
