The way that God planned it, leaving us stranded
Having to learn the art of trust
Everything else has turned to dust, o-oh

Scorpio rising, never disguising
What has been secret for too long
Cutting the road to lead us home, o-oh

I walked alone, a rolling stone
Traveled the world to find the place
Where I could live to face the destiny of love

I saw your flame, I called your name
Crossing the point of no return
Added my fuel to burn the destiny of love

The way that God planned it, life has demanded
Couldn't assign our fears and greed
Giving a hand to friends in need, o-oh

The tears you've been crying gave your heart trying Everything leading up to this
Sealing our friendship with a kiss, o-oh

I walked alone, a rolling stone
Traveled the world to find the place
Where I could live to face the destiny of love

I saw your flame, I called your name
Crossing the point of no return
Added my fuel to burn the destiny of love

I walked alone, a rolling stone
Traveled the world to find the place
Where I could live to face the destiny of love

I saw your flame, I called your name
Crossing the point of no return
Added my fuel to burn the destiny of love

The way that God planned it, leaving us stranded
Having to learn the art of trust

Everything else has turned to dust
