Sunday morning I'm confined
But the last time I could understand What's left in me? I don't know
But I wanted to be there tonight
Holding on I fall
I discovered you in the mess of things
When silence was my only friend Watch the sky turn red as I look into your eyes you're gone
Days go by too quickly to fast I can't count
And I'll reach for you my love but I'm confined to my suffering
Seems so far away but I want to be there tonight
Holding on I fall
Days go by too quickly too fast I can't count
And I'll reach for you my love but I'm confined to my
suffering
