Talkin to herself
Said it once and again
Don't wanna know what I'm worth
Flowers are dead overthrown with dirt

Memories silently crying at night
.....
More than long, inside her world
Never cared for that little girl

As she walks across thin ice
She thinks for a while don't have a life
See now god has let her down
She takes last breath and tries to drown

People gather round
On a day she wasn't found
No one knew, and they smile
Because they thought she'd be back in a while

But their wrong, so wrong
'Cause now she's gone
For good, she stayed far away
You should let her run away, run away tonight
Run away, run away tonight
Let her go, oh-oh let her go, oh-oh,
Let her go

As she walks across thin ice
She thinks for a while don't have a life.
See now god has let her down
She takes a last breath and tries to drown
She's sick off all of this
She gives the world a goodbye kiss

Now the book is finally done
And all our memories are gone
Are gone, are gone
