In the middle of the night, the moon is shining bright I have separated feelings, but my brain just sees the real things Hey, come on and please excuse me, if you don't know how to use me And I am still here in the night, but the moon's not giving light You only have to look ahead, I'm lying here beside my bed It's very hard there on the floor, but I can see the open door
You're just another human, and you don't know if you can Come on and look around you boy and you will see the world's just a toy If you really want to change it, find your message and then send it But I'm still here in the night and I see I have no right Come on and close your eyes, and do not hear when someone lies
You don't have to look away, but if you want then you can stay
