losing power hating
gaining power loving gaining power loving

love is what makes us all keep carrying on what frees us from all our sorrows later on it throws everything back to you and builds up your hate for tomorrow

here today gone tomorrow you heal the wounds I carry and make me feel alive you help me find the spirit for a while

you possess the power you possess the power you possess

I find myself struggling for confidence alone with battered feelings this love was bound to turn to hate seems our only defence if you know how will you show how to being you would leave now if you cared enough for me lost your power lost it gave it all away lost your power lost it gave it all away you can't believe the words I say somehow you heard it all before you lost your faith long time ago you don't really care no more

I heal the wounds you carry and make you feel alive I help you find the spirit
for a while
