in a one way make you're running high blind never stopped to reality wonder why the key is yours in the palm of your hand but where would you go if you never understand no one can tell destiny forms itself with or without your help no one can know the pain in your soul you choose to live down that hole

weak in spirit weak in mind in the maze you're running scared forever blind to all the things in life you'd never find

I see myself in you frightened by the view I can't save you the demons got you

you choose to die down in that hole
