[Constant "bum-bum"s and "shoo-wop"s throughout the song.]

You never used to cry, but you do it all the time
You do, you do, you do, you do
And you know it just does not suit you, no it doesn't

Oh, baby baby, why you cryin' all the time?
You come up to me, and you give me look like
Hey, you big bully, just leave me alone
But I can't understand why, cry

Uh, and you know that I love you dearly
Yes I do, but to me it's not so easy
When you're crying all the time
And I'm there trying to understand what you're talking about

You gotta--all right, what's going on
I don't get a--we're not going up
Get it right, because--because--but then again, it's--

Okay, and you know that I love you dearly, yes it's true
But it's not easy when you're crying all the time
And I'm there trying to understand what you're talking about

But I had never knew quite a lot than if you cry
And it's not so bad, it does feel like a sensible love
Better had to go, could be a nice self service
Oh, I'd rather count on it...ooh yeah
