I will only see the shadow of the man that I was Before,
Nothing real nothing anymore
Only hate in my eyes, see red, I was living in a dreamworld,
With you girl always by my side you was there and I always tried,
To give you everything you needed,
Anything you wanted anything at all.

But then came that day when I saw you,
At the station he was there with you,
You kissed him and hugged him,
You stood there so happy,
I dropped everything, I dropped our ring.
Then you saw my face and I saw your eyes,
You ran over to me, shot at me with lies.
I saw tears rolling down your chic,
How could you damn my love do?

You sad you was sorry but what difference does it make?
You where everything to me
But now I don't look your way cuz you took it away,
You are sorry, but those tears don't mean nothing now,
You where everything to me.
But now you're only a girl alone in this world.

I will only see the shadow of the man that I was before,
Nothing real nothing anymore,
Only hate in my eyes, see red, you said that it was nothing,
He was a friend then you said goodbye.
Girl I know you, I know you lie and your friends told me more,
More about him, more about you.

Girl I know you lie because I saw you,
You said to me you went to work until around two Instead you kissed him and hugged him,
You stood there so happy, I stood there alone and my heart was like stone.

Then you saw my face and I remember your eyes,
Remember what you said, remember all those lies,
Remember tears rolling down your cheek,
But I can't remember that I loved you

You said you was sorry, but what difference does it make?

You where everything to me
But now I don't look your way cuz you took it away,
You are sorry, but those tears don't mean nothing now,
You where everything to me.
But now you're only a girl alone in this world.
