I'm never satisfied
I wake up every morning
To find I'm pushed aside
I feel I should be soaring high, high, high
High up in the sky

We're all incompetent
We're into happy endings
We're all indifferent
We always bring each other down, down, down
Bring each other down

And everything we wanted
To believe will come our way
And though sometimes it's harder than it seems
What we see is what we get right now
Right now

No matter what they say
We'll take it day by day
Day by day

You never think ahead
There might be no tomorrow
Use it all up instead
And somehow they'll learn to survive
They'll learn to survive
Can't you read the sign?

No matter what they say
We'll take it day by day
Somehow they'll learn to survive

So here we are again
Right back to the beginning
We'll make it to the end
As we all bring each other down, down, down
Bring each other down
All there seems to be is one way out

And everything we wanted

To believe will come our way
And though sometimes it's harder than it seems
What we see is what we get right now
Right now

Day by day, by day
