

Ira Losco

"If You Say"

Visit "If You Say" on MotoLyrics.com

I was just a quiet girl living in my lonely world of the emptiness that once was all in me Every word thats thrown to me and every glance that makes me feel that i'm breaking down and everything's surreal

Thought me weaker all along
Now i stand to prove you wrong

If you say that none of this was ever true
Don't you say that all this aint enough for you if you say, if you say, yeah

Years has passed and this is me look inside and you will see You'll find nothing that can break that easily

Thought me weaker all along
Now i stand to prove you wrong

If you say that none of this was ever true
Don't you say that all this aint enough for you
If you say that none of this was ever true
Don't you say that all this aint enough for you

Funny how some things will change people never stay the same now you find it hard to even look my way Can't you look me in the eye?
Dont you even realise that you made me stronger
I dont have to cry

If you say that none of this was ever true
Don't you say that all this aint enough for you
If you say that none of this was ever true
Don't you say that all this aint enough for you
If you say that none of this was ever true
Don't you say that all this aint enough for you

