You can do anything you want
You can pray till the light has come
Still not find a way to make it better
You can go start a war and win
Ending up right back here again
In time it becomes clearer

Pain is a wonderful emotion
Scariest sea in a world of oceans
Angel from where your fires burn
I will say lead you by the water
Throw your body against the wall
And awaken the fear of your own destruction
I can tell you, I've been there man
And pain is a wonderful emotion

Look at your sentimental scars
Look at the shape they've left upon your skin and mind
If you believe what makes you turn around
Is what made you fall apart
All of this fear won't keep you coming down

Pain is a wonderful emotion
Scariest sea in a world of oceans
Angel from where your fires burn
I will say lead you by the water
Throw your body against the wall
And awaken the fear of your own destruction
I can tell you, I've been there man
And pain is a wonderful emotion
