Don't you ever think
That you've had enough
You went and blew the
Grade guess you're not so tough
Don't you ever think
Learn the bloody lesson
That stupid smile on your
Lips is it just expression

So you say times are hard,
You've been caught offguard
So you say give a bit,
This is the life of a misfit
So you say times are hard,
You've been caught offguard
So you say give a bit,
This is the life of a misfit
You've been away too long.
You've been away too long.
And things are still wrong.

Oh, yeah, life is cruel and
You end up like the fool

Oh, really, really, really you do
You trudged through their schools
You played by their rules but it never really,
Really, really was you

Misfit's been re-arranged.
Some say deranged
Misfit's been away.
Some say insane.
You've been away too long.
You've been away too long.
And things are still wrong.

And did you ever figure out
That one big final lesson

Always be who you really are
That's the true confession
So what if their little innuendos aren't
The sort of thing you can see
I hope they never ever mean a thing to you.
I know they never ever did to me.
