Did I ever tell you I'm in love with your girlfriend Yesterday she said I should stop by and pay her a visit I said I'm friends with your boyfriend and your boyfriend's a friend of mine He's a friend of mine

She said don't worry that it'd be alright and maybe I should come on over tonight she said do you think you should or could I said yeah I think I might yeah I think I might

This is such a waste of time But it's a pleasant waste of time

She told me not to worry and that sometimes she gets this way I said that it was alright

I could come back another day she stopped to pause I think I thought I knew what she wants to say

And then she ran her fingers right through my hair and said will you come with me to get a breath of fresh air I said if you really want to well I don't really care I don't really care

And while we were walking well she started to cry she said this makes me so awful inside and maybe this is something we should ought not have tried should ought not have tried
