

Isobel Campbell

"You Won't Let Me Down Again"

Visit "You Won't Let Me Down Again" on MotoLyrics.com

You sold your soul when you drank the morning dew
Down on your luck and so thirsty through and through

A Crack in the mirror tells,
Of seven years of pain,
And you won't let me down again.

Drive through the land just to see the ocean green
Race to the coast as no telling where I've been

Both eyes on the road ahead,
Don't wanna look behind,
And you won't let me down again.

Ten miles south of the city,
I lose you in the rain,
So you won't let me down again.

Aeroplane Aeroplane race across the fields
Taking me homewards, further from the deals

If our love was a weaker man,
Give up without a sound,
But you won't let me down again.

Strength is in the solitude,
I try to obtain,
But you won't let me down again

A head full of visions I struggle to recall
Most ancient of wisdoms a fortitude I saw

Air will crack with me,
The harvest moon will rain,
And you won't let me down again.

And I don't look for pity
So if it's all the same
You won't let me down again,
You won't let me down again.

