I'm losing self-control.
My imagination begins to fill up all the empty holes
Of the stories that have only been half told
Of the time I was away
Of the time I was away.

With no remorse I begin to raise my voice.
And now I'm screaming at the top of my lungs
And I find myself locked in her arms
And I find myself locked in her...

Chorus:
She sings her melodies
To try and put me at ease
It's the only thing that calms me down, the only thing that calms me down
She's the only thing that calms me down.

I break the hold. Slam my fist on the kitchen table
Salt and pepper shakers shake the entire room begins to break.
Glasses on the floor, glasses on the floor, glasses on the floor
She tries her luck once more

Chorus
