She's the kind of girl that makes me smile at nothing.
she's the kind of girl that makes me laugh with all her silly faces.
that kind of girl that memories are made of.
she's that kind of girl.

that kind of girl that makes the sun wish that it could shine.
that kind of girl that makes a man much better then he
was before.
she's that kind of girl.

she says she will get married in a castle, in late december.
i say that should do just fine, cause i love the winter.
then we'll chase the sun down till it's dark out and find
our own hide away day.

she's the kind of girl who dreams without a reason.
she's the kind of girl that with one glance she knows just what i'm thinking.
that kinda girl that reads without occasion.

that kind of girl that's not afraid of danger.

she's friendly to a stranger on the street.
that kind of girl that skips class just for coffee.
she sees me like the world could never see.

she says she will get older in a big town, in california.
i say that should do just fine, cause i love the coastline.
then we'll chase the sun down till it's dark out and find
our own hide away day.

that kind of girl that doesn't need to do her hair.
she'll act on any dare, she knows that life's not fair.
that kind of girl that lets music do her talking.
she dances while she's walking next to me.

she says she will get buried in the ocean, come whatever.

i say that should do just fine, cause i love the water.
then we'll chase the sun down till it's dark out and find
our own hide away day
