The only vision I had in my mind,
Was indecision blocking me from stopping time,
My watch was wrong my time had gone.
Take a break now from asking me,
Why even wearing masks was not enough to hide,
Just don't be fooled by my disguise.

I tell you something, my halo has gone.
Left with nothing, this sorrow goes on.
A broken arrow has pierced through my skin,
It's time to give in.

The only mission we undertook,
Right was making honest lovers join their evil side,
And shoot each other in their backs.
Innocent hearts and innocent minds,
Are easy targets angels prey upon at night,
So don't be fooled by their disguise.

I tell you something, my halo has gone.
Left with nothing, this sorrow goes on.
A broken arrow has pierced through my skin,
It's time to give in.

Don't get caught in the middle,
'Cause something will swallow you.
If you thought it was simple,
Well some things are hard to do.
If you're feeling at ease,
It's 'cause somebody believes in you,
Because somebody believes in you.

I tell you something, my halo has gone.
Left with nothing, this sorrow goes on.
A broken arrow has pierced through my skin,
It's time to give in.
