I arrive, my head's above the clouds, I feel alive.
I tell a lie, I see you in the mirror walking by,
And I hope to God I'll never lose the feelings that I have.

It'll never last, she said.
Put your hands above your head slowly,
If you ever die inside don't surrender,
'Till you find the last of the broken hearts.
The last of the broken hearts.

Going slow we're moving in the right direction though,
I tell the truth I'm sitting by the window watching you,
And I hope to God I'll never lose the feelings that I have.

It'll never last, she said.
Put your hands above your head slowly,
If you ever die inside don't surrender,
'Till you find the last of the broken hearts.
The last of the broken hearts,
The last of the broken hearts,
The last of the broken hearts.

It'll never last, she said.
Put your hands above your head slowly,
If you ever die inside don't surrender,
'Till you find the last of the broken hearts.
The last of the broken hearts,
The last of the broken hearts,
The last of the broken hearts,
The last of the broken hearts.
