What a terrible girl, when that terrible girl is me
If you fail to feed love it eill camouflage itself cowardly
She's puppeteering the heart of a delicate man
The a coward girl is yours truly
They'll release red balloons in the sky when we die
Nurture and structure and put him to bed
No one trusts a girl who slouches
I feel complete, Satisfactory!
But before you walk with ghosts, be spontaneous again
He's having a laugh, to the tick of our clock
He's the upper hand, half full to my heart
This humiliation makes you learn to read books
And to sew old holes, but I still can't spell
(Courage)
Stiff drinks half empty become warm
Stagnant, the bastard son
One more time with some feeling, let's give it a shot
Take control of your seasons
One more time with some feeling
Fuck, let's give it a shot
Take control of your courage, and breathe
(Courage)
They'll release red balloons in the sky
When we die
