Why can you not listen to me
And understand what I want us to be
You mean more to me than life
When I am with you, I feel no strife
You are my light when it is night
When I

You know that you mean more to me
Than anything else I need

You are all I really need
With you, I will always succeed
You are worth more than any item
These feelings are real, so why should I fight them?

I guess that life will go on
Even if my heart is gone
You ripped it out, decided to leave me
I do not why you can not see
See why I needed you here
My feelings for you were sincere

You know that you mean more to me
Than anything else I need

You are all I really need
With you, I will always succeed
You are worth more than any item
These feelings are real, so why should I fight them?
