"Fallen Angel"

see her fallen fallen angel lying in the dust she was mother nature's daughter and my own inspiration once she cried out to me softly but I couldn't hear the call I was much too far to help her to save her from the fall her secret lies behind her silence better left unknown whatever happens her voice will echo long after she's gone

she cried out to her maker but he wouldn't hear the call he was much too far to help her

to save her from the fall

no one listens she's crying out in vain she loses all her essence as she bottles down the pain this mess which has become her awaits her knight in shining armor to come farewell it's done

she cries out to you softly but you cannot hear the call you are much too far to help her
to save her from the fall
