come into my castle
if your candle's shining bright blinds upon my windows will come up to greet the light free your heart and let it shine lead me on to you but there's a place inside my soul you'll never get close to stay away from my temple stay away I want to have it be the same if you choose to walk away

I'd rather see my tomorrow clearly as I see today stay away

you're my lady queen my angel child as pure as a child can be explore the places in my world touch everything you see but never try to find the key to the hidden door behind the wall you'll never find what you'll be looking for
