outside we sit at night and watch the stars and satellites then we go inside, warm up our hands but not the chill in my heart harmony harmony harmony will never be harmony tragedy outside we stand by day, feel the vastness, feel the wind that casts away the clouds after rain, but not the sorrow in my eye and if harm comes your way, count on me I'll wash away the fools because my blind love evokes my blind hate and that's alright for this is.....

and do we talk about all this dread, a nothing life a nothing future then we let the sun shine away your fears but not the sorrow in my mind
