

Cadaverous Condition "To The Distant Grey"

Visit "To The Distant Grey" on MotoLyrics.com

I remember the dreamwind filling my sails then blowing me off course

I remember the blue sky the follies of youth and a wish to die

I remember things held close thrown away and forgotten

I foresee that it will come true this my wind now blows for you calling calling

across the blue

I remember the black heart the knowledge of age and the falling apart

I remember the feelings I lack and the friendships that were a stab in the back

calling calling
across the blue

I will burn this page today I will throw my life away I just do not want to stay I give it all to the beautiful sea

calling calling

calling calling
across the blue

to the distant grey
