Our love has faded for good
You left me jaded and I should Tell you what us on this mind
You want me to be okay
But I'm not fucking fine

We both tried so hard to make it work
But all we ended up with was hurt
Hoping that together we'll last through the years
But all we ended up with was tears

[Chorus:]

Say what you want, but I'm not playing games
I cry through the nights and sleep through the days
No more opening up to what we thought was love
It's funny how you're really weak when you think you're tough
I'm breaking
We've only been faking

I can't eat, sleep, think, walk unless you tell me
All the things that went wrong that made you leave
With tears in my eyes I look into the night
I'm not breathing just yet
But I am willing to bet

It's like we built a house with no foundation
I tried to take your love in moderation
Now I know that was just a big mistake
All you did was give; all I did was take

[Chorus:]

Say what you want, but I'm not playing games
I cry through the nights and sleep through the days
No more opening up to what we thought was love
It's funny how you're really weak when you think you're tough
I'm breaking
We've only been faking

Don't you ever tell me no
'Cause I'm letting go

No one treats me like you do
That's why I'm so stuck on you
You just don't see the point
I've reached my breaking point

[Chorus:]

Say what you want, but I'm not playing games
I cry through the nights and sleep through the days
No more opening up to what we thought was love
It's funny how you're really weak when you think you're tough
I'm breaking
We've only been faking

[Chorus:]

Say what you want, but I'm not playing games
I cry through the nights and sleep through the days
No more opening up to what we thought was love
It's funny how you're really weak when you think you're
I'm breaking
We've only been faking

Like little shards of glass
Together, we won't last
