Wait up now time is a story it's holding me down
holding me down now
Wait up now time is a theory it's holding me down
holding me down now
Wait up now what's it going to take going to take to make you see we're moving too fast now Wait up now what's it going to take got to find the time
I'm on my knees

Now take some time
All we need is a little time
Just wait awhile and save ourselves some pain

Wait up now who's the real enemy holding me down
holding me down now
Wait up now who dropped the bomb who's striking me down striking me down now
Wait up now what's it going to take going to take to make you see we've lost our way now

Wait up now what's it going to take got to find the time
I'm on my knees

Now take some time
All we need is a little time
Just wait awhile
And save ourselves some pain

If this is a story just based in lies
Can we stop the moment?
It's destroying the world destroying it all If all of this is a mistake we're really just a thing that occurred
Then why would we even try to fight it?
Why would we even try at all?
Why would we try? Try and fight it.
Why would we try? Why not let it fall?

Take some time
All we need is a little time
Just wait awhile
And save ourselves some pain now
