Go down by the shores of hope
Where love flows and the ocean floats
Go now, and I will meet you there
We'll sing beneath the cotton candy clouds, yeah Something's eating my stomach (that sour taste is coming back again)
Those pretty stories and sonnets
But I cast those stories down the well
When I grew up not long ago
Well I'm cured from those infectious fairy tales
That plagued our playdough minds and wills Something's chewing on my brain (I'm leaking dreams like piss, once again)
Those pretty Hollywood Endings Someone's taking my clothes off! (I promise you the sky! And the stars!)
Must be love!
Oh, I hope so!
