You turned the lights on all over my world
My present was as dark as my future
My future was no brighter than my past
My heart had known love and someone to dream of
But my heart had known love that didn't last

But when you kissed me and whispered
"I'll always be your girl"
You turned the lights on all over my world
With each step my shadow grew longer
Till slowly it melted away
With no one to love me, no one to leave me
Lost in love I couldn't find my way

But when you kissed me and whispered
"I'll always be your girl"
You turned the lights on all over my world
You turned the lights on all over my world
