Billy lights a cigarette
Thinkin' that it might do him some good
Tammy comes over and sits right down beside him
'Cause she thinks, she should

They don't know what they're gettin' into Did you think they would?

Billy's just another boy
He's from the other side of the tracks
He's got his eye on a pretty little girl
But he's not so sure that she will lay down

Will she put up a fight like all the rest
In this worn-out One Light Town?
One Light Town

Tammy looks at Billy and says
"Hey darlin', you're my sweet"
Well Billy, he's actin' cool
So he smirks a soft one and says
"Darlin' that's real neat"

I think I'll go down town and buy me a beer
And drink myself into next week

Billy rolls a crooked one
Yeah, he's gonna smoke it and see where he can go
He's gonna lie out in an open field
And he don't give a damn
About the rain, the sleet or the snow

He's gonna leave this town behind him
Where he lands, baby, nobody knows
Nobody cares, nobody gives a damn
About that little boy down in Texas

Well, the wind's gonna start to rumble
And those tumble weeds are going to roll
Well, that's when we're gonna catch the next train to Boulder
We're gonna get out and take a long look around

Gonna dream about my buddy
Gonna dream about my friend
Gonna dream about ol' Billy
Way down there, stuck down there

That One Light Town
One Light Town
One Light Town

Light that cigarette
Here she comes
Take a one light train
