

Jack Penate

"Everything Is New"

Visit "Everything Is New" on MotoLyrics.com

I was living with these fingers on my eyes
And the beauty of the city was disguised
I'd seen all these buildings all of my life
They were just another part of the sky
And the gray was spinning larger than stars
All around me were invisible monks
I saw a lantern go to appear in her face
I saw a change in every goddamn place
Everything is new now
That's the way you feel it
Everything is new now
Everything is new now
Change has been released
Everything is new now
I was raging from the fear of the end
I was much too tired to try and defend
Someone came and dragged me out of my head
We ran so fast the pavement turned into sand
I saw a lantern go to appear in her face
I saw a change in every goddamn place
Everything is new now
That's the way you feel it
Everything is new now
Everything is new now
Change has been released
Everything is new now
Everything is new now
That's the way to feel it
Everything is new now
Everything is new now
Change has been released
Everything is new now
Everything is new now
That's the way to feel it
Everything is new now
Everything is new now
Change has been released
Everything is new now
Everything everything everything is new now (repeat until end)

