

Jack Summer "Stars That Shine"

Visit "Stars That Shine" on MotoLyrics.com

When you feel blue, we light up the darkness so you know you'll see it through again today, and that's what matters anyway.

So there you go, your whole life just shatters until you know you're the one that matters, can you live? and love? and die? and breathe? and hope? and trust you'll find your feet?

And now I see, that we've been missing what we always meant to be, the stars that shine, not the ones that bitch and whine.

So there you go, your whole life just shatters until you know you're the one that matters, can you live? and love? and die? and breathe? and hope? and trust you'll
find your feet?

Do you hear me when I speak about it?
Do you trust me enough to scream and shout it?
'Cause I don't hear just anybody sing the truth tonight, so I'm asking make this right, darling we can make it right.

So there you go, your whole life just shatters until you know you're the one that matters, can you live? and love? and die? and breathe? and hope? and trust you'll find your feet?

Visit Jack Summer page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.