Maiming your killer
Through eyes of disdain
We contradict each other
And confusion remains

In our eyes
In our minds
In our helpless demise

Like the end of your life
It's your night tonight
We live and we die on the edge of a knife
At the end of the night
Beyond reaches of sight
We lie to each other and live in respite

You die tonight
Beyond my sight

I used to pretend to understand
Now I don't pretend to care

What I would like to know, right now
Is that my blood on the floor

There is no noble cause
Cos there's no reason to fight
So raise your glass to the future
And kill the lie

Like the end of your life
It's your night tonight
We live and we die on the edge of a knife
At the end of the night
Beyond reaches of sight
We lie to each other and live in respite

You die tonight
Beyond my sight
